

RAILROADS TO PLACE SIGNALS AT CROSSINGS

Officials of Line Claim That Signs Serve Purpose of Watchman

With the railroads of this country are being equipped with a great number of signals at grade crossings, the near future will see the watchman's place taken by a signal. In many cases the new signal will take the place even of a watchman. Other divisions of the Pennsylvania Railroad are installing the signals as rapidly as possible in an effort to decrease the number of accidents during the coming summer months.

One case of this nature was found last year at Linworth, on the district of the Hocking Valley Railroad. The new signal was erected and officials of the railroad were given permission to withdraw the watchman.

No action in the matter of placing a signal at the Prospect Hill crossing, where three miles south of Marion, will be taken for a few weeks. A survey of the number of automobiles crossing the tracks at this point was completed a few days ago by Hocking Valley officials with the view of erecting a signal.

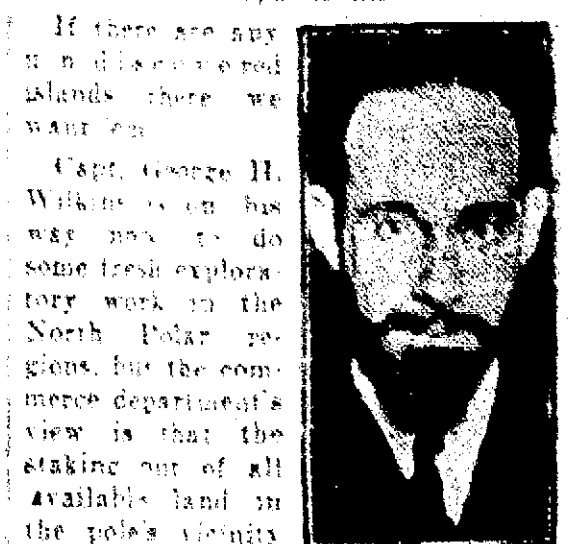

The Grand Rapids Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad has installed flashing light signals at 24 crossings during the past few months, and plans to place in service during the next three months. Other divisions of the Pennsylvania Railroad are installing the

American Aviators Expect to Claim Polar Regions

Rush for Arctic Islands in Near Future Is Foreseen by Fliers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—We must get busy in the Arctic region, they are saying in the aviation offices of the commerce department.

If there are any islands and islands they are going to see a big expedition as soon as possible.

GEORGE H. WILKINS, Capt. George H. Wilkins, who is doing some exploratory work on the North Polar regions, but the commerce department's view is that the stakes out of all available land in the polar regions has become a hurry up job and would like to see a big expedition as soon as possible.

Within a few years the department expects to see planes and dirigible balloons crossing the Arctic in every direction. Then every bit of land in that part of the world big enough or large enough to light on, refuel and take on from will be invaluable.

AVIATORS foresee a rush for Arctic islands in the rather near future and some even suggest the possibility of international quarrelling over them.

Eight hundred thousand square miles of Arctic ice remains unexplored and members of the National Geographic Society think it more than possible that there is considerable land under some of it. If so, they too, agree that now is the time to lay claim to it and get the Stars and Stripes floating over it. It may save lots of embarrassment later.

It's all right to fly from country to country, but no plane is going to enjoy having to land on some other country's land in transit. It may be made expensive. Islands may even discriminate against planes of other than their own nationality. Ocean shipping laws discriminate.

CANADA is known to be pushing Arctic exploration for all she is worth. She always has had pretty well a monopoly of Arctic exploration expeditions in this hemisphere, but a good many of them have been decidedly neglected. Now she's looking them over, fencing them in, so to speak, and making sure that there's no question as to her title to them.

But the nearer an island is to the center of the North Polar sea, the more convenient it will be as a trans-polar stopping place. The already known islands are pretty close to the coast lines, which almost enclose this rather small inland ocean. Hence the demand, on all hands, for new ones.

So North Polar exploration, not so many years ago a matter of mere scientific curiosity, now takes on the form of a commercial enterprise, with the strong probability of big money in it ultimately, for those who get in on the ground floor.

LIFE at these Arctic stopovers for air liners will be peculiar. They will have to have forces of mechanics and traffic officials and accommodations for the air traveling public.

Doubtless they will have restaurants where doughnuts and hot coffee will be available, and on all but the American islands something still stronger to drink.

This will mean waiters and picture postcard vendors and dealers in North Polar curiosities, like walrus tusks and polar bears' claws and Arctic foxes skins.

Yet these lonely populations will not lead such lonely lives. They'll be in constant radio touch with everywhere and any time somebody gets tired of it, he can jump aboard the first passing plane and be in Moscow or London or

LIVES DEPEND ON RIVER DAM, JOHNSON SAYS

Colorado Proposal Seen as Greater Power Project Than Muscle Shoals

Washington, Feb. 19.—The proposed $125,000,000 Boulder Dam in the Colorado River was pictured today as an even greater power project than the government's own $250,000,000 Muscle Shoals property as the senate began debate on the Sving Johnson bill, providing for its development.

The measure came before the senate through the efforts of Senator Johnson, Republican of California, who declared the legislation was necessary to preserve lives and property from the devastating floods of the Colorado River, to provide storage of waters for irrigation purposes, to water arid lands and for the development of a significant power project. The whole Imperial Valley of California may be destroyed at any time by a flood, Johnson said, if the bill is not enacted.

Strong Opposition.—Strong opposition to the measure developed from Senator Ashurst, Democrat of Arizona, and his colleague, Senator Cameron, Republican of Arizona. The two Utah senators, Smoot, Republican, and King, Democrat, also opposed it. Administration leaders said if a determined filibuster develops against the measure, it will be side-tracked in the interests of other legislation because of the fast approaching adjournment.

The chief hope for the enactment of the bill at this session, it was admitted will lie in the acceptance of amendments by both sides to eliminate the points in controversy. Otherwise, it was said, the bill is doomed to defeat.

The bill itself sets forth the uses of the project as follows: 1. For river regulation and flood control; 2. Irrigation and domestic uses; and 3. For power development.

What Is Wrong?

REV. A. F. UPHOFF

Pastor, Prospect Street M. E. Church.

No Christian Church worker can fail to realize that the Church is not radiating the influence in the world that it should. The Church is not leading people to Christ as it should. It is not the tremendous force for good betterment that it might be. What is wrong?

Before we set out to answer this question, let us remember that the Church is made up of individuals. Therefore we should ask, "What is wrong with ME?"

There are many correct reasons for the shortcomings of the Church, but the crux of the matter may be found in Christ's parable of the sower. In explaining the parable, Christ says in part, "And these are they like unto which are sown among thorns, such as hear the word, and the cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful." Mark 4:18, 19. Does that not fit in our modern life as it had been spoken just yesterday? The "cares of this world" were never so great as they are today. The simple life of Abraham has become the amazingly complicated life of the twentieth century. Some years ago men traveled a few miles an hour, now they travel hundreds. We measure our time in seconds and fret if we must wait a few moments. As a result of this, we are becoming impatient. Because speed is not conducive to meditation, we have ceased to think deeply about our relation to God and our fellowmen. And as long as these relationships are not kept in their proper place in our life we shall fail to do our best.

But what is to be done? We cannot change this twentieth century life of ours even if we would. But knowing our danger, we can take precautions just as we take them when there is an "epidemic of influenza." If we are likely to suffer from spiritual anemia because we have contracted the speed fever, we must counteract this evil tendency.

And we can be our own physician to a large extent. We can set aside a definite time each day in which to read God's word, meditate about it, and commune with Him. Soon we will find this as necessary as our meals. And out of this will flow a life of service and a force for righteousness. Then there will not be a clamoring for "paid" positions in the Church, but all will be glad to contribute their "bit" to the greatest cause on earth.

HARVEY WOY FINED $10 FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Harvey Woy, 18, of Girard, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court yesterday afternoon to a charge of reckless driving filed against him by Deputy Sheriff Vane Ireland and was fined $10 and costs.

Ireland and Decker Hazen, another deputy sheriff, reported that they were driving on S. Prospect st. Thursday afternoon when Woy whizzed by in his machine, traveling at least 40 miles an hour. The officers stated that they caught up with Woy and warned him to moderate his speed and that their instructions were ignored. They claim that after slowing up momentarily he stepped on the gas and was again doing 40 miles an hour or more. It was then that the deputies gave chase and placed the driver under arrest.

The young man was not taken into custody, however, when he promised to appear yesterday before Municipal Judge Martin.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

Virginia Gray
Actresses who played the role of "Little Eva" in the two-act play "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in the heyday of its popularity have grown into grandmothers, but the play seemingly goes on forever. Little Virginia Gray, above, is "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in Universal film's version of the famous Harriet Beecher Stowe play.

Way to take the course of the play has been devised by Charles Brown, the director. Dashing scenes are always a bugbear to directors since they must avoid a long scene in the middle of the act. In the case of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the director has devised a way to take the course of the play.

"We had a case," said Brown, "where the audience's sympathy was with Gilbert, of course, while a sense of justice gave sympathy also for McDermott. His character was not so well known, but he was the injured party. Now, to show him injured, we had a scene in which he was killed. This was a bit of the story it had to be. We got around this by using an old trick of photography adapted from German productions."

By filming the two characters in silhouette we made this phase a sort of impersonal narration; the artificial aspect of the silhouettes removed the effect of the men's personalities, still making their identities clear. It corresponds to a brief impersonal paragraph in the literature in covering a necessary point that it is well to gloss over.

HILL PREDICTS DANCE MEASURE WILL BE PASSED

Author of Bill Against Sunday
Entertainment Looks for Favorable Vote

Prediction that the bill which he introduced in the state legislature to prohibit public dances and roller skating on Sunday will be passed by the house was made today by H. E. Hill, representative from Marion county, who is here during the legislative week and recess.

The bill, which has aroused wide-spread interest throughout the state and was the subject of spirited arguments when it came up for its first hearing in committee this week, is scheduled for a second and final hearing next Tuesday night. Mr. Hill is confident that the committee on villages, to which the measure has been referred, will recommend its adoption. He expects this action to be taken following Tuesday night's deliberations.

Expect Opposition
Although predicting exact passage of the measure in the house, Mr. Hill is not making forecasts, one way or another, regarding the probable attitude of the senate. He anticipates that a determined effort to defeat the bill will be made there.

When the bill came up before the House committee on villages this week, a large number of speakers appeared both for and against it. Among those arguing against its enactment were Fred E. Guthrie, prominent Marion attorney, and C. B. King, local industrial leader, who is president of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Guthrie appeared personally before the committee and Mr. King's views were expressed in a letter read by the assistant secretary of the Manufacturers' Association.

Arguments in favor of the proposal were advanced by Mr. Hill, a number of prominent ministers and other speakers.

Sees Early Adjournment
Mr. Hill expects an early adjournment of the legislature, saying that there is possibility that the session may come to a close by April 1. Monday is the last day for filing bills and after that, the Marion County representative states, the assembly will settle down to the task of throwing out all unimportant measures and taking action on those held for consideration.

When the legislature recessed Friday a total of 315 bills had been submitted. This total will probably be considerably increased with measures coming in Monday, but will still be considerably below the usual average, Mr. Hill says. Ordinarily, about 700 bills are introduced into the legislative hopper before the deadline is fixed.

When Miller walked into the Butler store yesterday afternoon, immediately surprising that the store would attempt to work the check gone astray. Stating that he wanted to purchase a dress, Miller asked whether he would be allowed a discount. The cashier, Clemens said he would be pleased to grant the discount. Then when Miller presented the $200 check, Clemens stated that he would have to go to the bank to obtain change.

Instead, Clemens hurried to the police station about two blocks away and returned with an officer.

The automobile trip is supposed to have started at Columbus immediately after Miller is alleged to have cashed the $15 check endorsed by Clemens' grandfather. At that time the party consisted of Miller, the woman said to be his sister, and McKibben.

From Columbus they went to Indianapolis, where they remained about a week and became acquainted with the Wilkinson girl. A diary kept by Miss Wilkinson contains notes regarding the journey between Indianapolis and its terminus in Marion. It shows that the party left Indianapolis on Feb. 11 and made stops in Dayton, Plain City, Columbus and Zanesville. The final notation was made by Miss Wilkinson at Delaware, where the four died at the same time.

Individual Contracting By Coal Groups Looms

New System for Present Disputes May Be Present Conference Result

Indianapolis, Feb. 19.—A new system for ending the frequent and serious coal wars between miners and operators in the soft coal industry may be evolved as a result of the thus far unsuccessful wage conference here, it was indicated today.

As a more or less permanent arrangement in the future it was predicted that contracts will be signed between the union and operators or the latter, hereafter, it has been the custom for the miners to organize a contract for their entire central competitive field, consisting of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. This arrangement has formed the basis for all other districts.

Ohio and Pennsylvania lying adjacent to the non-union fields in West Virginia and Kentucky, have felt more keenly than Illinois and Indiana the competition across the Ohio River. A goodly portion of the Ohio and Pennsylvania operators thus are ready to face a break with the union if the miners get a wage cut. Some of the Indiana men will follow suit.

Illinois is less advanced as for some of the largest operators in the soft coal industry, particularly Wiggins and McCarty.

When the negotiations here break down, it is a serious question they will meet Tuesday or Wednesday, the next move of John L. Lewis, president of the union, probably will be to seek separate agreements in Illinois and the outlying fields, based on no wage cut but with changes in working rules. The operators wouldn't host so much increased production through cooperation from the union over installation of labor-saving machines, etc. If Lewis can get these contracts, and union leaders believe that he can, he will have a club to whip other operators into line.

Annual Union County Cage Tournament Opens at Marysville

CROWDS FLOCK TO ARMORY FOR TILT OPENERS

Twenty-Eight Teams Take to Floor as Season's Classic Begins

Marysville, Feb. 10.—Marion's first cage tournament today for basketball players and followers of athletes as the annual Union County cage tournament opened at the local armory. According to tournament officials this morning it was expected that this year's event will set a new record in attendance and receipts.

Plans as arranged by the committee composed of Supt. A. P. Huse, of Raymond, chairman, W. E. Gregory, of Magnolia, Supt. H. L. Stewart, of New California, and County Superintendent J. A. Taylor, were carried in a very capable manner. There was very little confusion in getting the matches started as every player was present and ready for the signal to go.

One phase of the tournament which drew much comment by the fans was the capable manner in which the games were handled by those in charge. Referees selected on recommendation of H. B. Townsend, state athletic director, were L. N. Drake, of Milford, and G. D. Smith, of the athletic department of Ohio Northern University.

Girls Play
The morning session was taken up by the girls' matches. First on the floor were the New Dover and Cully teams which entertained the fans for half an hour with an interesting contest. Other matches were between Bybala and Magnolia Springs, Watkins and Allen Center, Raymond and Milford Center, Pharisburg and Darby and Richmond and Irwin.

The boys squads held full swing during the afternoon session. Irwin against Raymond, Broadway against Milford Center, Darby against Bybala and Allen Center against Allen Center.

28 Teams
The array of 28 teams representing many schools in the county had been lined down by elimination so that only 16 of the original squads entered the fight to take part in the matches tonight and those next Saturday, when semi-finals will be played. The winner of the tournament will receive a silver cup and the runner-up a basketball, to be presented by County Superintendent J. A. Taylor at the close of the tournament next Saturday.

CORN BORER MENACE IS GROWING, REPORT SHOWS

Quarantine Line in Hardin County Now Follows Scioto River

Kenton, Feb. 10.—That the corn borer menace in Hardin County is growing apace, was the statement made by J. A. Ayres, agent of the United States Department of Agriculture, following a survey here.

During his county tour, Ayres interviewed many individual farmers, conducted investigations in the fields and pointed out control methods.

The corn borer pest was first discovered in the northern section of the county last fall and recently practically half the county was placed under quarantine.

The quarantine line now follows the Scioto river, the townships of Liberty, Washington, Blanchard, Marion, Jackson, Goslin, Pleasant and part of Dudley, comprising the quarantine area.

Under the law farmers in the affected areas will be unable to ship any corn on the rail from these townships or from one township to another in the infected area.

Farmers living along tributaries of the Scioto river have been instructed to keep all corn wastes away from the banks of these streams, both on the north and south sides of the river.

BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY AT FIRST HEARING

Charges Made in Connection with Fatal Injury of Crestline Man

After a preliminary hearing on a charge of manslaughter in his death, Major Waldbauer, Crestline, today bound over to the Crawford County grand jury. Bond for each of the men was placed at $3,000.

Charges of manslaughter were placed against the men in connection with the death of George Guinther, Crestline, Feb. 4, after he had been struck by a speeding motor car that failed to stop on the night of Feb. 2. Arrests were made by Deputy Sheriff Fred Judd and Chief of Police Cook of Galion.

GIRL CONFESSES

Information leading to the placing of charges against the men was furnished by Miss Mabel Irene Montague, 17, Galion, placed under arrest at Canton on a delinquency charge. In a signed statement in possession of Sheriff Ulmer Crawford County, the girl claims that she was riding with Leitz and Helfrich at the time Guinther was struck. A party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Traher, Galion, in which intoxication played a principal part, was the night of the fatal injury of Guinther, is also detailed by Miss Montague. A grand jury cross examination by Attorney W. J. Coer, Galion at the preliminary hearing failed to shake the girl's story. Others claimed by Miss Montague to have attended the party admitted on the stand of its existence.

Next action in the case is not expected before the early part of next month, when the grand jury will convene. In the meantime, Miss Montague may be called to the stand to testify as to the circumstances in the juvenile court at Bucyrus. Other arrests in this connection are expected, officials intimate.

State Witness

A witness upon whom the state will count to furnish testimony of a convicting nature is Miss Ethel Landdowne, Crestline High school girl, who was the first to reach Guinther's side after he had been struck by the car.

Interest in the Crawford County case parallels with that of the mysterious murder of Fred Wilson, whose body was found in an abandoned shack along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, Feb. 5. Another chapter was written in the history yesterday with burial of the body, still unclaimed, in the potter's field at the Crawford County home.

BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY AT FIRST HEARING

Charges Made in Connection with Fatal Injury of Crestline Man

After a preliminary hearing on a charge of manslaughter in his death, Major Waldbauer, Crestline, bound over to the Crawford County grand jury. Bond for each of the men was placed at $5,000.

Charges of manslaughter were placed against the men in connection with the death of George Guinther, Crestline, Feb. 4, after he had been struck by a speeding motor car that failed to stop on the night of Feb. 2. Arrests were made by Deputy Sheriff Fred Judd and Chief of Police Cook, of Galion.

Girl Confesses

Information leading to the placing of charges against the men was furnished by a girl, Miss Mabel Montague, 17, Galion, placed under arrest at Canton on a delinquency charge. In a signed statement in possession of Sheriff Ulmer Crawford County, the girl claims that she was riding with Leitz and Helfrich at the time Guinther was struck. A party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Traoler, Galion, in which intoxication played a principal part, the same night of the fatal injury of Guinther, is also described by Miss Montague. A grand jury cross examination by Attorney W. J. Gier, Galion, at the preliminary hearing failed to shake the girl's story. Others claimed by Miss Montague to have attended the party admitted on the stand of its existence.

Next action in the case is not expected before the early part of next month, when the grand jury will convene. In the meantime, Miss Montague may be called to answer to the charge of delinquency in the juvenile court at Bucyrus. Other events in this connection are expected, officials intimate.

State Witness

A witness upon whom the state will count to furnish testimony of a convicting nature is Miss Ethel Landow, Crestline High school girl, who was the first to reach Guinther's side after he had been struck by the car.

Interest in the Crawford County case parallels with that of the mysterious murder of Fred Wilson, whose body was found in an abandoned shack along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, Feb. 5. Another chapter was written in the history yesterday with burial of the body, still unclaimed, in the potter's field at the Crawford County Home.

Curran, recently deceased, had been a member of the lodge 32 years, the first eight years of his membership he rode eight miles to lodge on horseback and never missed a meeting.

An oyster supper was served at the close of the session.

MARION CAGERS WIN LAST TILT IN N. C. O. LOOP

Shelbyites Are Easy Picking for Local Quintet; Play There

Harding High cagers, led by Clem and Russell, two men who have been mentioned only on a few occasions this season, last night defeated Shelby High 28 to 13, on the Richmond County court.

It was a walk-over for the Harding outfit and remained fans of the Gallop made here a few weeks ago when the Marionites came through with a 29 to 1 victory. Fourteen Shelby youths were placed in the battle in an effort to stop the oncoming Marion tide but to no avail. It was Harding's last N. C. O. League game.

Shelby made four points on free throws in the first half and failed to connect for a single field goal. Harding was leading 20 to 4 in the last half when Shelby finally made its first basket. Marion's reserves played much of the second period.

Greene and Gilles started at forward and center, and McGee and Shumaker at guards. Late in the first half, Cleve went in for Gilles at forward and made such a great showing that he stayed there. He finished the contest with a total of 10 points in his credit in addition to good floor work. The forward also performed in a creditable manner after being out most of the season with an injured ankle.

Every Central Junior player was credited with at least two points with the exception of Johnson, who was not in the fray long enough to connect for a counter. Witham made three field goals and a free throw and Adams made two baskets and a charity nicker. Humston and Tuttle played the best game for the boys.

Pleasant and Kirkpatrick Girls' Cage Teams in Tie for East Section Title

Pleasant Defeats Caledonia and Kirk Wins Over Waldo in Final League Games; Will Play Off Tie on Neutral Floor Before Next Friday

Pleasant Township High School girls' basketball team still clash with Kirkpatrick girls on a neutral floor sometime before next Friday night in an effort to break the deadlock in which the season ended last night, before the championship round in the Star Auditorium.

Pleasant girls trimmed Caledonia and Kirkpatrick trimmed Waldo in the games last night, making five wins and a defeat for each quintet. Before last night, the two teams were tied for first place in the east county section league with four victories and a defeat each. The two teams must meet on a neutral floor before Friday night to decide which five will represent the east section in the championship round against Marion of the west section.

Kirkpatrick girls defeated Waldo, 17 to 2, on Waldo's floor. The Kirk girls probably would have won by a close score had Waldo had been badly crippled by the loss of several players as the result of sickness.

Pleasant won from Caledonia, 17 to 8, on the latter's floor. Leffler, Mauff and Croner were the main cogs in the Pleasant machine. Timson made seven of Caledonia's eight points. She is one of the best players in the east section and has scored many of the points made by the Caledonia quintet this season.

Caledonia and Waldo boys won their games last night. Caledonia boys defeated Pleasant 15 to 8 and Waldo defeated Kirkpatrick 28 to 11. In a preliminary event, the Waldo team defeated the Junior Knights of the Y. M. C. A. 10 to 12.

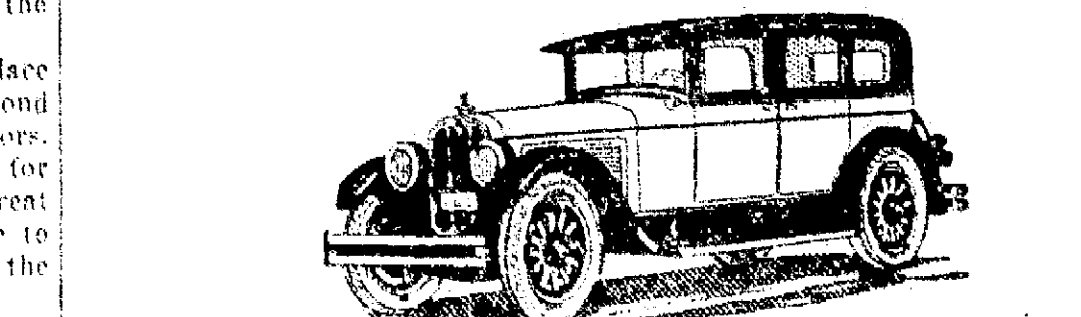

Again springing a surprise, the Pleasant team last night defeated the Caledonia team in the second game of the regular bowling match between the two teams in the Marion Star League. PROTECTION OF STATE PARKS IS URGED AT MEET

R. T. Lewis, Marion Realtor, Attends Session of State Chamber

Urgent need of protecting state parks and forests in Ohio was stressed at a meeting this week of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

The committee assigned to the work of considering various phases of the state parks program, in connection with the state parks and other state lands, consisting of business and professional men from various parts of the state.

It was agreed at the meeting this week that subjects which should form the basis of the committee's discussions and recommendations are as follows: Upkeep of parks and forests and the protection of parks and forests in Ohio.

Location of parks and places of interest.

To what extent and how these places are to be advertised and given publicity.

Whether there is need for a unified system of parks and forests.

Automobile tourists are lured for much of the vandalism and destruction in parks, forests and other places which are under state protection.

was stressed at a meeting this week of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

The committee assigned to the work of considering various phases of the state parks program, in connection with the state parks and other state lands, consisting of business and professional men from various parts of the state.

It was agreed at the meeting this week that subjects which should form the basis of the committee's discussions and recommendations are as follows: Upkeep of parks and forests and the protection of parks and forests in Ohio.

Location of parks and places of interest.

To what extent and how these places are to be advertised and given publicity.

Whether there is need for a unified system of parks and forests.

Automobile tourists are lured for much of the vandalism and destruction in parks, forests and other places which are under state protection.
